

MICHIGAN WORKS! SOUTHWEST TRAINING

Michigan Works! Southwest assists employers in the development of a qualified workforce by providing training opportunities to incumbent and future employees. Working with employers within industry sectors such as agriculture, energy, healthcare, information technology, and manufacturing, Michigan Works! Southwest strives to meet the unique and ever-changing needs of each employer.

TYPES OF TRAINING

Classroom

Working with local training institutions, Michigan Works! southwest can connect eligible individuals to training that meets the needs of local employers.

On the Job

To help bridge the gap between motivated job seekers that need new career skills and employers in need of candidates that are ready for new career challenges, Michigan works! Southwest is able to reimburse eligible employers with a portion of new employee's wages during a period.

Customized Solutions

Michigan Works! Southwest staff work with employers to develop customized training solutions, tailored to meet current and future workforce needs.

IMPACT

“The pace of change in the business environment has become dizzying, and for a small business, it can be challenging to overcome. We are grateful for the Going PRO Talent Fund award to Omega Castings that will assist our personnel in responding to challenges through training to enhance their leadership skills and moving closer to industry 4.0 adaption.”
